

These are very commonly used data types; connecting these to everything else would be very messy and doesn't provide much value.

